

SLCP for beginners: An introduction to our Program

Dear Tier 2, Tier 3, Vertical & Non-Apparel/Footwear Facilities

The Social & Labor Convergence Program is pleased to announce it is actively rolling out the use of its social and labor assessment tool into new sectors, and deeper into supply chains.

To support this launch, we are inviting tier 2, 3, vertical and non-apparel (including home textiles, luggage/bags, hard goods and other industry sectors) facilities and manufacturers new to SLCP to attend one of our special upcoming introductory training sessions in China. These events are designed to support new sectors, and deeper supply chain partners and demonstrate how SLCP can benefit their businesses.

Who are we?

SLCP provides facilities with the tools to capture one set of verified data about the social and labor conditions in their facility. This data can be shared with multiple business partners and organizations; increasing transparency, eliminating audit fatigue, and ultimately allowing users to redeploy resources into improving working conditions. Over 75 brands and retailers (including C&A, Gap Inc, H&M, Inditex, Nike, PVH, Ralph Lauren and Target) already accept SLCP verified data. If you haven't already, we hope your facility joins the over 12,000 facilities registered on the SLCP Gateway who are on their way to experiencing the benefits of the SLCP process and system.

SLCP for beginners: An introduction to our Program

Did you know that adopting SLCP assessments can benefit facilities across all sectors in global supply chains?
